

Mr. Bhargav Kotadia
Managing Director & CEO

Strategic, multi-tasking, ambitious and responsible are some of the traits that come to your mind when conversing with Bhargav Kotadia, the Managing Director of Sahajanand Group. Based in India, SMT (Sahajanand Medical Technologies) is one of the largest medical stent manufacturers in the world, with a presence in over 75 countries.

The driving force behind the company's exceptional growth chart, Bhargav completed his education from Purdue University in 2011. After completing his education, Bhargav started working for Sahajanand Life Sciences (SLS) where he developed the go-to-market strategy for the company. He also served on the Board of Directors for Purdue Alumni Association for 3 years after graduating.

By the start of 2013, Bhargav deepened his involvement with the Sahajanand Group. He initiated a structural transformation of the group while implementing best-practices, which would enable strategic & long-term success for the companies under the Sahajanand Group.

Simultaneously, Bhargav made his teams pursue product developments, cost efficiencies and business growth. In the coming years, he plans to make SMT one of the leading cardiovascular devices companies in the world. His dream is to make India the center of Medical devices innovation & manufacturing for the global markets.
